

Rishi, Layla and the Dragon!

By 3M

There was once a young boy called Rishi and he had a sister called Layla. They would often go out together to have great and fun adventures. They heard that there was a huge, fiery dragon who lived in the dark, eerie forest and was guarding her precious egg!

One day Rishi said to Layla, "Shall we go and hunt for this precious dragon's egg so then we can be famous?" Layla replied, "That sounds fun." They both went and asked their mum if they could go to the forest. Their kind mother gave them permission and even packed them some yummy sandwiches to have for their lunch. As they walked excitedly into the wild forest it began to get hotter and hotter.

In front of them, there was suddenly a raging fire. It felt as hot as the sun and the children began to sweat nervously! They realised they were getting closer to the dangerous dragon. The green, fierce and mean dragon saw them through his dark, black eyes and roared loudly. "Go away from here or I will gobble you up, you naughty children!" The dragon started to whip her sharp, spiky tail and this hurt the children. Rishi fell to the ground with a loud thud! Layla started to cry as she thought that they were going to get killed by the nasty dragon.

Layla swiftly jumped onto the dragon's back and tickled her. This made the dragon topple over and fall to the ground. Layla then grabbed the egg and she prodded her brother. Luckily, he was still alive and he quickly took hold of her hand. They both started to run back towards their home away from the mean dragon and the dark forest. They got back home and told their mum about their adventure. She decided that she would find this mean dragon, who had hurt her children however, she also told her children off for stealing the dragon's egg! She went to the forest and there she saw the dragon crying sadly. She apologised to the dragon and returned her egg after telling the dragon off!

After a few months, the children returned to the forest which wasn't as dark or gloomy anymore. It looked lush and beautiful. From then on they became friends with the dragon and her babies and they would play with them in the forest. The dragon was actually not a mean, nasty dragon for she had to be that way as she was defending her egg!
